DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-20 are presented for examination.

2. It is noted that although the present application does contain line numbers in the specification and claims, the line numbers in the claims do not correspond to the preferred format. The preferred format is to number each line of every claim, with each claim beginning with line 1. For ease of reference by both the examiner and Applicant all future correspondence should include the recommended line numbering.

Claim Objections

3. Claims 4 and 14 are objected to because of the following informalities:
 - (a). As to claims 4 and 14, line 1, deleting " IK "; line 3, the word " ore " should be " or ". Appropriate correction is required

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter, which the applicant regards as his invention.
5. Claims 5, 7 and 11, are rejected under 35 U.S.C 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
 - A. The following terms lack proper antecedent basis:

- i. The telecommunication communication connection – claim 5;
- ii. The processing of the multimedia information – claim 7;
- iii. Said processor – claim 11.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claims 1, 3-8, 10-11, 13-14, 18 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being unpatentable over Zellner et al (U.S. 6, 567, 502 B2).

7. As to claim 1, Zellner teaches the invention substantially as claimed including: an apparatus for a control device for providing multimedia monitoring and control of a remote machine (col. 2, lines 55-60) comprising:

A processor (Emergency Service Center (ESC), col. 9, lines 13-15) that processes and communication of data with said remote machine (col. 2, line 53- col.3, line7; col. 4, lines 54-63; col. 6, lines 41-54); and

Multimedia information regarding a status of the remote machine (col. 3, lines 7-17; col. 4, lines 54-63); and

A multimedia connection coupled to said processors providing a multimedia transmission connection to the remote machine and transmitting said multimedia information regarding a status of the remote machine (col. 2, line 54- col. 3, line 1; col. 3, lines 8-17 and lines 20-35; col. 4, lines 54-63; col. 7, lines 27- 30 and lines 39-47; col. 8, lines 35-49).

8. As to claim 11, it is rejected for the same reason as claim 1. In addition, Zellner teaches processing information generated by the remote machine (col. 6, lines 45-50);

Generating multimedia information regarding a status of the remote machine (col. 7, lines 44-55; col. 8, lines 52-57).

9. As to claims 10 and 20, Zellner teaches the communication between the respective components is carried out over the internet (col. 8, lines 35-38).

10. As to claims 3 and 13, Zellner teaches a visualization device that generates visualization information regarding the status of the remote machine (col. 7, lines 44-55; col. 8, lines 52-57).

11. As to claims 4 and 14, Zellner teaches an augmented reality device that generates the multimedia information from one or more senses of a user in the vicinity of the remote machine (col. 4, lines 64-67; col. 10, lines 3-6).

12. As to claims 5-6, Zellner teaches trace functionality transferred over the telecommunication link for real-time transmission of multimedia data connection (col. 5, line 49).

13. As to claim 7, Zellner teaches a data-processing device coupled remotely with said machine for controlling the processing of the multimedia information (col. 9, lines 13-25).

14. As to claims 8 and 18, Zellner teaches data-processing device encompasses multiple data-processing units which have communication connections to one another and which each have a telecommunication connection for real-time transfer of multimedia information to the control device (col.10, lines 3-22).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

15. Claims 2, 9,12, 15-17 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Zellner et al. (U.S.6, 567,502 B2) in view of Widegren et al (U.S. 6,374,112 B1).

16. As to claims 2, 9,12,15-16 and 19, Zellner does not explicitly teach the processor enables a UMTS connection. However, Widegren teaches the processor enables a UMTS connection (col.5, lines 29-31). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the teachings of the Zellner and Widegren because Widegren's UMTS connection would increase the flexibility of Zellner 's system by providing a wide variety of mobile communications services and resources to support those services.

17. As to claim 17, Zellner teaches remotely processing the multimedia information (col. 3, lines 39-41; col.5, lines 50-51).
